WOMEN'S WAY Gender Wealth Summit Feminist Marketplace

Curated by Tanya Morris from Mom Your Business, the Feminist Marketplace at the Inaugural Gender Wealth Summit aims to spotlight local, women of color entrepreneurs from the Philadelphia Region.

Once Upon A Preemie, Inc Jenné Johns, MPH

Jenné, a Philadelphia native, is a national health equity thought leader, author, and advocate for reducing healthcare disparities. While advocating for the needs of her own son, Jenné wrote, Once Upon a Preemie, the first of its kind children's book written for parents of preemies while in the NICU. A graduate of the Disparities Leadership Program at Harvard University Medical School, Jenné has over a decade experience advocating for policy, and community changes to improve health equity and health outcomes for low-income communities. She also led quality improvement and health equity transformation strategies with the nations largest health insurance companies. Jenné is President of Once Upon A Preemie Inc, a non-profit organization on a mission to eliminate health disparities for Black Birthing women and premature infants. Jenné is also CEO of Jenné Johns Enterprises, LLC a health and racial strategy consultation company.

Cobbs Creek Publishing Jenny Delacruz

Cobbs Creek Publishing creates multicultural books that promote critical thinking skills and emotional development. After much research, we saw a need in the market and answered the call. Representation is essential. Less than 8% of authors are Black and less than 1% of Publishers are Black-Owned. We are working to end the racial disparities in the publishing industry by providing quality coaching and digital courses to BIPOC authors to succeed in this industry.

Dr. Brownies Toni Johnson

Toni Johnson has spent 30-years as a Restauranteur, Culinary Instructor, Food Truck Owner, and she is a Doctoral Candidate helping people taste the sweeter side of life with just one bite. She is the creator of plant-based brownies and at home mix. The realization of truly making a brand that would not just help my family but also the community in which we live while being kind to the environment is part of Dr.

V-Tox Intimate Wellness Nakea Murray

After two decades as a powerhouse in the publishing industry, a search for a natural solution for a personal health issue led Nakea to launch V-TOX™ Intimate Health & Wellness in 2014. The line of nature based feminine care products includes an Intimate cleansing bar, menstrual care, and herbal Vsteam treatments. Starting out from personal experience, V-TOX™ has become the go to brand and a vital training resource for Vagicians and practitioners around the country that offer personal care and information sessions. Her Black Wombs Matter™ Initiative helps underserved women and girls obtain healthy hygiene products & education regarding reproductive system issues that hit hard in the African American community. Ms. Murray was born and raised in Philadelphia. This true Mompreneur has produced and hosted an award winning online radio show. Her latest projects include the Coochie Convo™ and Everything I Got Wrong In Business Podcasts, launching soon. VTOX is located in Bala Cynwyd, PA and open by appointment for services and consultations.

EA in the C-Suites Karren Henderson

EAs In the C-suite was born as a result of Karren's successful career as an Executive Assistant and ending her career as Chief of Staff. It was apparent that EAs were worthy of more in terms of recognition, appreciation, and compensation. Karren developed a system to empower EAs in the C Suite by increasing their emotional intelligence to level up performance to business strategic partner and become indispensable. EA in the C-Suites offers powerful training for executive assistants to "have a seat at the table."
